

ROBERT D. CLARK HONORS COLLEGE

Degree Paths: Journalism

SCHOOL of JOURNALISM and COMMUNICATION MAJOR Journalism

Student A

- Employed at a global advertising agency
- Advertising major and graduated in four years

Student B

- Employed at a global advertising agency
- Advertising major; participated in UO College Scholars program, studied abroad and graduated in four years

Student C

- Employed at a multinational public relations firm
- Public Relations major; participated in UO College Scholars program, studied abroad, took summer classes and graduated in four years

Student D

- Sales representative for a multinational media company
- Electronic Media major; graduated in four years

NEXT STEPS

1. Meet with your CHC advisor

- a. Log into DuckWeb and go to Degree Audit to look up your advisor, or
- b. Stop by the CHC Reception Desk, or
- c. Go to any CHC faculty member you'd like

2. Meet with an advisor in your major

The School of Journalism and Communications' undergraduate student services page contains information on major and minor requirements, advising, and career opportunities: journalism.uoregon.edu/students/ student-services/

Drop-in (no appointment needed) is available every day of the week.

3. Meet at least annually with both your advisors: CHC and your Journalism major

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Robert D. Clark
Honors College

Different Paths to a Degree

Course Area

- HC History
- HC Literature
- HC Other
- HC Science
- Major College
- UO Electives
- Study Abroad
- Other College
- College Scholars

Major
Journalism

